DETAILED ACTION

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless -

(a) the invention was known or used by others in this country, or patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country, before the invention thereof by the applicant for a patent.

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

2. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negatived by the manner in which the invention was made.

3. Claims 1-16 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b and a) as anticipated by or, in the alternative, under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as obvious over Sawada et al. (US 2001/0041305 A1).

Sawada et al. '305 teaches controlling the degree actual and apparent surface area, keeping the Ra less than .5 microns and keeping the number of deep pores to a minimum in an aluminum lithographic photo sensitive plate substrate in order to allow easy application and removal of printing solution (sections 0021 through 0023). The instant invention claims specific ratios of actual surface roughness to apparent roughness in the same range taught by Sawada et al. '305 as well as a minimum number of deep recesses. It is not apparent how the instant ranges differ if at all from those taught in Sawada et al. In the alternate it would have been obvious to have optimized the ratio of apparent to actual surface area in order to optimize printing performance as this is taught as an effective variable in Sawada et al. As the PTO does not have experimental facilities burden is shifted to applicant as the claimed product and the product of the reference appear to be similar or identical. MPEP 2112 and 2113.
